

User Stories

Student:

As a student, I want to know what the most popular majors and the potential salary for that major so that I can begin planning for my future and career options.

Parent:

As a parent, I want to find out how popular a certain major is so that I can help my son/daughter make the right choice.

Employee:

As an employee, I want to know the average salary for my qualifications, so I know that I am being paid fairly.

Employer:

As an employer, we want to know the average salary of students graduating with a particular major, so that our entry-level employees can be paid fairly.

Admission Officer:

As an admission officer of an undergraduate school, I want to know the percentage distribution of each major for a bachelor's degree in the States so that I have a general idea of how many students I should enroll for each major.

Professor:

As a professor in an undergraduate school, I want to know the average salary of students with different majors in 5 years after graduation so that I can provide my students with some information when they come to me asking about their future career.